

Foodbank Network Regional Development Officer (London)

The Trussell Trust, a Christian charity based in Salisbury, is looking for a dynamic Christian with a heart for the poor to fill a new role to develop the foodbank network in London. Working in partnership with Love London you will reach out to churches to help them develop a foodbank, a community social action project, providing emergency food to people in crisis in their areas.

This role will suit an experienced project worker with good communication and interpersonal skills, seeking to change lives in their communities. You will be based in Central/SW London and the role will involve significant travel around London.

Hours are flexible, part time (19hpw negotiable) to include some weekend and evening work.

Salary: £12,000 (eftr £24k).
